How EarthShare's Fiscal Sponsorship Helps Brym Empower Young Changemakers Around the World

The Challenge

Young people around the world are already building the future.

Across countries, cultures, and communities, emerging leaders are creating stories, organizing projects, and developing practical solutions to environmental and social challenges. Yet many youth-led initiatives struggle to access the visibility, networks, and support needed to grow their impact on a global stage.

Brym was created to share stories directly from the perspective of young changemakers around the world, helping surface emerging voices, connect communities, and amplify youth-led environmental action.

Brym is a global, youth-led coalition building the future of sustainable worlds. The initiative began by sharing Stories and Signs of Hope directly from the perspective of young changemakers across the globe. Through this interconnected community, Brym helps transform storytelling into environmental projects and meaningful action.

To grow its network, engage supporters, and support youth-led projects internationally, Brym needed a trusted fiscal sponsor that could provide 501(c)(3) status, compliant fund management, and operational infrastructure without slowing the energy and creativity of its youth-led mission. >>>

The Solution

Through EarthShare's fiscal sponsorship, Brym gained the legal, financial, and operational foundation needed to grow as a mission-driven charitable initiative.

EarthShare provides the administrative backbone that allows Brym to receive tax-deductible donations, manage grants, navigate nonprofit compliance requirements, and operate with confidence across an international community of young leaders. This includes financial administration, donor receipting, grant management, contracting support, risk management infrastructure, and operational assistance.

With this foundation in place, Brym can focus on amplifying youth voices, connecting changemakers across borders, and translating stories of hope into real-world environmental projects and collective action.

The Impact

With EarthShare as its fiscal sponsor, Brym has been able to strengthen its operational foundation and focus on building a global movement of young changemakers.

Fiscal sponsorship has helped Brym:

- Launch with credibility | Brym has been able to attract philanthropic support and partnerships through EarthShare's established nonprofit infrastructure.
- Mobilize funding | EarthShare provides a compliant structure for receiving and stewarding charitable donations and foundation grants.
- Focus on mission delivery | Administrative and compliance support allows Brym to concentrate on storytelling, coalition building, and project development.
- Scale youth-led action | Strong back-office infrastructure helps Brym turn inspiration and community engagement into durable environmental initiatives.

Why It Matters

The future of sustainability will be shaped by the generation inheriting it.

Young changemakers bring urgency, creativity, and optimism to some of the world's most pressing environmental challenges. When given the tools, resources, and connections they need, they can transform stories of hope into practical action and lasting systems change.

Brym demonstrates how youth-led projects, storytelling, and coalition building can catalyze environmental progress on a global scale. By pairing this vision with strong nonprofit infrastructure, EarthShare helps initiatives like Brym move faster, attract funding, and turn inspiration into impact. >>>
